Lisbon, 11 May 2018

BLUEOTTER group aggregates companies CITRI and PRORESI. Its mission is to respond to the increasing quality challenges for environmental services on an ever-evolving sector and where there is growing concern in finding solutions at international level.

This operation, supported by national and international banks, inserts in the investment strategy implemented since 2016. In addition, it has also in analysis and development stages, with investors and multinational companies, projects totalling over 50 million Euros, destined to state-of-the-art technology in resource valorisation areas within the Portuguese and other European markets

BLUEOTTER will operate in strategic locations, in the north and south banks of Tagus river through two treatment and waste disposal units making technical confinement in landfill; two processing and preparation of waste derived alternative fuels units; a waste valorisation and sorting unit; a bioremediation organic waste and contaminated soils treatment unit; two renewable energy production plants (a solar plant and another biogas energy production plant); two licensed and certified laboratories; and a new and modern organic waste composting treatment unit which will begin operating in 2019.

BLUEOTTER's priority is to invest in the best technical and environmental solutions for its clients and to manage strategic and innovative assets, namely waste valorisation.

The development of partnerships with its clients and the implementation of projects in cooperation with other companies is one of its goals. More specifically, developing synergies with institutions that improve the valorisation of resources in all the value chain and actively contribute to overcome the immense challenge of sustainability for our Planet and our Generation
